Time Is Relevant

Potomac State College of
West Virginia University
Keyser, West Virginia
1973-1974

To all those who helped in the production of the 1974 "Time Is Relevant" Catamount.

To Mr. Yancy Overby, Delmar representative, who made many a trip from Virginia to explain some facet of printing. To Mr. Dennis Carpenter who helped insure that the yearbook had top quality pictures. To Miss Irene Brown and Mr. Elwood Layman who lent the use of their typing rooms. To Dr. Elizabeth Atwater who gave some much needed moral support. And a Special thank you to Mr. William Gallier, the Catamount sponsor, who helped do anything that had to be done — from the typing of masters to the mailing of pages.

Time phases out of the mind many names and faces and experiences. Only a yearbook remembers.

The lengthening shadows on the face of a dial, the darkening streaks down the sides of a building, the ticking of a clock, the sound of the hour bells, the running of sand in the hour-glass and the age lines on the faces of those we see are all outward signs of the passing of the hours. Time is not only the measure of life but its medium. "An hour wasted is existence; used is life."

On these pages are the Relevant Times we will savor in the afterglow of tomorrow when faces and events long since have ebbed into the shadows of memory. For us at Potomac State College to be used not wasted for our Relevant Time is now.

"Time present and time past
Are both perhaps present in time future and time future contained
In time past."

MESSAGE FOR CATAMOUNT — 1973-1974

The past year I have been proud to be a part of Potomac State College and the traditions which surround it. I am encouraged that students, faculty, and staff have worked together as a team, and the results of this effort are rewarding.

We are in an age of accountability, as well as an age of inflation, but I am confident that if we continue to work together as a unit, we can build an even better Potomac State College, and in turn be better prepared for the challenging future in the years ahead.

Congratulations to the Catamount staff for an excellent publication.

A. G. Slonaker
Dean of the College

Prof. James T. Handlan, associate dean

Aside from being a nostalgic record for students at Potomac State College, each yearly issue of the Catamount carries an important history of this college. The changes that have been made, the advances in knowledge, new attitudes, and the way each class faces the challenges of its year are found within the covers of the yearbook. The tempo of the time is here, and how each class searched for solutions to the problems of its day is written for all to see. The students and their faculty sponsor who worked to produce the yearbook are to be congratulated for the excellent results which are set here for a record of 1974.

PHI SIGMA NU

Phi Sigma Nu, founded in 1922, has been an outstanding social group on the campus of Potomac State College. The fraternity was granted a National Charter by the National College Panhellenic and has been designated Beta Chapter.

The fraternity began its year with a successful and entertaining pledge party during the fall "Rush Week," which netted them several members. In the autumn activities the fraternity sponsored a candidate for Miss Homecoming. Miss Deborah Brady reigned as princess at the Sigma sponsored "Sweetheart Ball."

The Fraternity demands college spirit, interest in all college activities, high moral standards, individual development of character and leadership, and scholastic achievement from all its members.

Men who are now away from the college but often return to visit their old fraternity are indications of the fact that the bonds of friendship established in Phi Sigma Nu provide lasting memories in future years.

Among its activities, the association decorates for the annual Homecoming, the building of the float "Cream 'em" in the Homecoming parade, the holding of open dorms, the selection of a candidate for homecoming queen, and providing refreshments during finals week.

The House Council, comprised of officers of the association, acts as the governing body for women. Through a social forum held twice monthly, an opportunity is given for girls in residence and girls living in approved homes, to discuss and learn proper social usage for college women.

Members of the council, including two representatives from each floor, as well as a set of officers, all meet every other Tuesday to discuss ideas for the Dormitory. Activities have included purchase and construction of the new volleyball court located in front of Davis Hall, several open dorms, purchase of game room equipment, and the sponsoring of coffee during finals week.

ALL-AMERICAN

DEFENSIVE STANDOUTS: Linebackers Ray Marshall, left, of Clairton, Pa., and Randy Noel of Covington, Va., were standouts on defense as Potomac State's Cats won their opener, 21-13, over Harford on the road. Marshall a standout here two years ago before being injured and missing the second half of the season, had eight unassisted tackles, four assists, and sacked the quarterback four times. Noel, all-Coastal Conference linebacker and perhaps the best in the league last year, had seven unassisted tackles and six assists in the game. The State coaching staff from head coach Cecil Perkins on down believes both are worthy of All-American consideration.

Ancient Statue is Origin of PSC Newspaper Title

When Potomac State became a junior college in 1921, the staff of the former publication, The Preparatory Herald, wanted a new title for the college newspaper and chose the name Pasquino from one of the famous "talking" statues of Rome. The statue's origin was derived from a hunchbacked tailor named Pasquino, whom Romans feared and respected because of his biting, but amusing, sarcasm. After Pasquino's death, the neighborhood people erected an antique statue in his memory. This statue became a target for sharp commentaries on the life of the period — safe because anonymous. The statue proved so effective an agent to secret protest that it and similar statues began to "talk."

Carrying news of the campus to students, faculty and a wide public is the college newspaper, the Pasquino, a fortnightly publication staffed by students majoring in journalism assisted by a group of volunteer staff members.

The Pasquino's press run of 2200 copies is distributed to students, faculty and staff on the campus. In addition, a mailing list of well over 1000, contains the names of parents of all non-commuting students, alumni throughout the world, hundreds of other colleges and high schools of the tri-state area, friends of the college, and advertisers.

The Catamount Staff with completion of the thirty-sixth edition of the Catamount, Potomac State's college yearbook, hope that we have included all the activities and highlights of the school year that you will want to remember. Once again we read the theme and were reminded that "Time is Relevant." We hope that each of you realize time has no end because yesterday is experience and tomorrow is hope. And no matter where you journey you will prosper, find success, and use this book often as a means of reliving your days at Potomac State College.

Designing a layout

Catamount is the folk name given to the mountain lion and sometimes to the lynx. A savage catlike animal, a large fierce wildcat, as in ancient Rome is the Potomac State symbol of liberty. Two bits of folklore surrounded the life of a cat; the first, being clever, and the second, having "nine lives."

HALLOWEEN:
A Time for Cauldrons and Good Witches

Fire, burn; and cauldron, bubble."

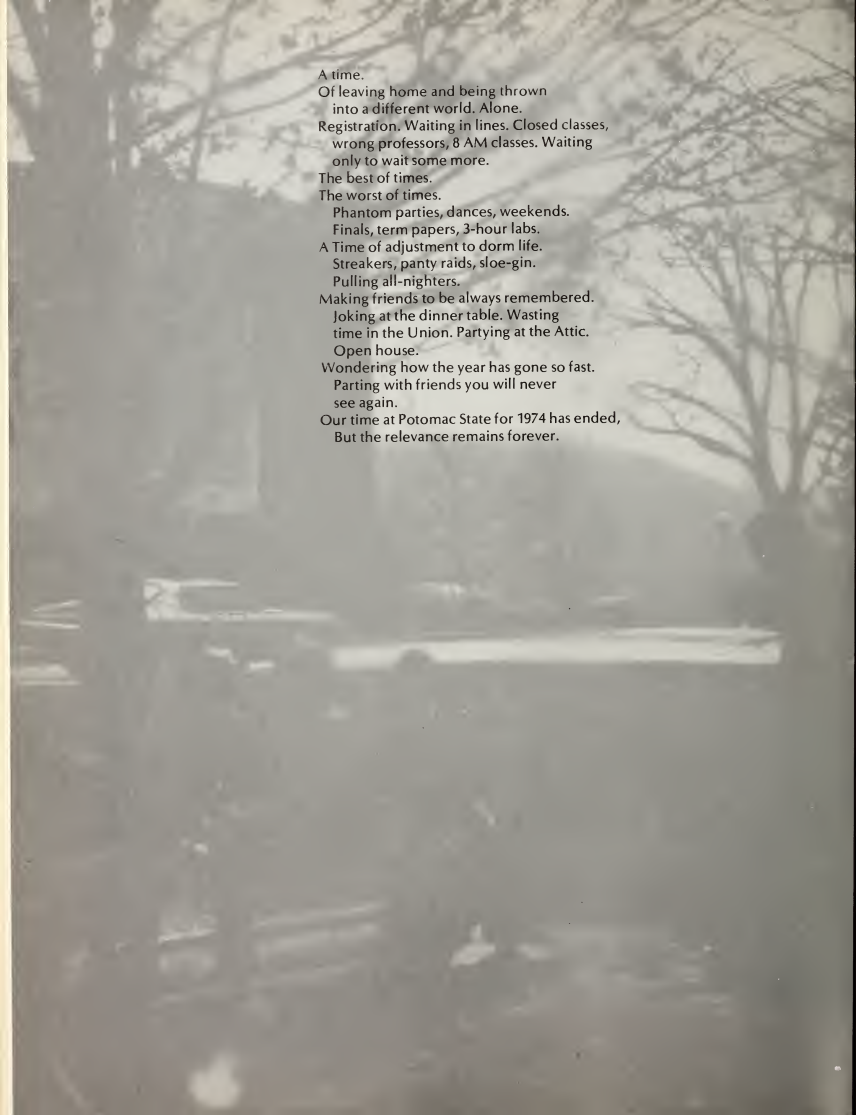
Goblin's Delight

Good Witch Chris with a ghoulish friend



A time.
Of leaving home and being thrown into a different world. Alone.
Registration. Waiting in lines. Closed classes, wrong professors, 8 AM classes. Waiting only to wait some more.
The best of times.
The worst of times.
Phantom parties, dances, weekends.
Finals, term papers, 3-hour labs.
A Time of adjustment to dorm life.
Streakers, panty raids, sloe-gin.
Pulling all-nighters.
Making friends to be always remembered.
Joking at the dinner table. Wasting time in the Union. Partying at the Attic.
Open house.
Wondering how the year has gone so fast.
Parting with friends you will never see again.
Our time at Potomac State for 1974 has ended,
But the relevance remains forever.
